

India in the Eyes of Others

World Perspectives on India's Global Role

Thursday, 16 May 2013, 9.00 am – 5.30 pm · Seminar Room 1, Queen Elizabeth House

- 9.00-9.30      Introduction: India in the Mirror – Kate Sullivan, Oxford
- 9.30-11.00    Session 1- India in the Eyes of Africa, Mexico and Brazil
- What does 'development cooperation' mean? Perceptions from India and Africa* –
                  Dave Harris, University of Bradford and Simona Vittorani, SOAS
- The Eastern Brother: Brazil's view of India as a diplomatic partner in world trade* –
                  Vinicius Rodrigues Vieira, Oxford
- 'The other pacifist': Mexican views on India's quest for great power status* –
                  Gilberto Estrada Harris, Oxford
- 11.00-11.30    Coffee/tea break
- 11.30-1.00     Session 2 – India in the Eyes of Poland and Central Europe
- India: emerging Power or India: emerging economic Power? Central European and EU comparative perspectives* - Jakub Zajączkowski, University of Warsaw
- A Rising India: Polish Perspectives* – Boguslaw Zaleski
- Perspectives on Indian Art in Anglo-Saxon Museums: Passing Fashion or Promising
Vision?* - Aneta Halizak, University of Warsaw
- 1.00-2.00      Lunch
- 2.00-3.30      Session 3 – India in the Eyes of China and Japan
- Status and Security: Chinese views of a nuclear India from the 1998 tests to the 2008 NSG Waiver* – Nicola Horsbrough, Oxford
- India in Climate Change: The view from Tokyo* - Yuka Kobayashi, SOAS
- 3.30-4.00      Coffee/tea break
- 4.00-5.30      Session 4 – India in the Eyes of Russia and Syria
- Russian views of India as a regional actor in the context of Afghanistan* – Natasha
Kuhrt, King's College London
- Views of India from the conflicting parties in Syria* - Omar Sharaf, University of Heidelberg

* The annual South Asia Day is generously funded by a grant from the Faculty of Oriental Studies